Resolution to Recommend a CU Boulder Policy Regarding Sports Wagering on CU Boulder NCAA Teams
BFA-R-1-113021

Notice of Motion
BFA-R-1-113021

the state of Colorado has recently moved to allow Sports Wagering on certain NCAA Division I sports;

, the University of Colorado Boulder (CU) promotes integrity and fair play in intercollegiate athletic competition;

, the CU's culture, values, and Honor Code call University faculty, staff and students to a higher standard than the law generally requires;

, student-athletes at CU may find themselves under undue pressure from other members of the CU Community (faculty, staff, or other students) who have vested (financial) interests in the outcome of a sporting event involving CU student-athletes;

, student-athletes at CU may find themselves on the receiving end of retaliation from other members of the CU Community (faculty, staff, or other students) based on the outcome of a sporting event involving CU student-athletes;

similar institutions to CU have already adopted policies prohibiting university affiliates from gambling on their own university competitions<sup>1,2,3</sup>;

that the Boulder Faculty Assembly (BFA) recommends CU adopt a policy restricting CU faculty, staff, and students from placing, accepting, or soliciting a sports wager (on one's own behalf or on behalf of others) on any CU NCAA Division I team, student-athlete, coach, statistical occurrence, contest, or event.

that any restriction on sports wagers should include (but is not limited to) wagers that are:

- Placed, accepted or solicited on any University of Colorado Boulder oc-5827a2 (geo,Dn ot)6.3 /MD31 ( )10.8.6 (6
